Chamber of Horrors

JOHN F. RUSSELL/STAFF

Scott Kallase (werewolf), Jess Heaney (vampire), Cody Walker (ghoul) and Josh Thompson (Grim Reaper) are just a few of the scary characters you can expect to run into at the Screamboats 10: Chamber of Horrors haunted house, which will take place at Monson Hall from 6 to 10 p.m. today. For story, see page 11.

Driving for road funds

Transportation panel cites looming $155B gap for infrastructure needs

The statistics are staggering. Colorado has 126 "structurally deficient" bridges. Forty-seven percent of its roads are in poor condition. Twenty percent of them need to be completely reconstructed from the road-base up. Congestion on Interstate 70 costs Colorado businesses $800 million annually in lost productivity. And the Colorado Department of Transportation faces a $155 billion funding gap by 2030 if no new sources of revenue are established.

As troubling as these figures are, Colorado's transportation advocates are just as frustrated by a different number. According to polls, 63 percent of Colorado residents believe the transportation system is doing just fine. As such, state legislators at the Capitol this year largely ignored the dismal state of transportation funding.
