STEAMBOAT SPRINGS

Finance Director Lisa Rolan resigned from the city of Steamboat Springs on Tuesday afternoon, the same day that a county manager in North Carolina announced he had hired Rolan to be his finance officer.

In a telephone interview with the Steamboat Pilot & Today on Wednesday, Rolan confirmed her resignation, effective Jan. 5, but said she did not have a new job lined up or plans to move.

"Right now, I don't know what I'm going to do," she said. "I'm just going to enjoy my life."

But a local newspaper in Montgomery County, N.C., reported Wednesday that Rolan was hired as county finance officer and hopes to start Jan. 12. Rolan could not be reached Wednesday evening to respond to the Montgomery Herald article.

The Herald reported that Rolan is a native of nearby Asheboro, N.C., and that her husband, Steve, also is from North Carolina. The couple has two children.

"I wanted to get back to my roots," the Montgomery Herald quoted Rolan as saying.

The newspaper article also stated that Montgomery County Manager Lance Metzler announced Rolan's hiring Tuesday. It is not clear when
